

Film title

Voyage of Time

Tagline

The story of our universe

Short synopsis

A celebration of the earth - from the birth of the universe to its final collapse. Terrence Malick's most ambitious film to date.

Long synopsis

Terrence Malick's first documentary has been described by the director himself as "one of my greatest dreams". It is a collage film (like Koyaanisqatsi by Godfrey Reggio) that intends to illustrate the birth and death of an undiscovered universe. A film that promises to be highly experimental and perhaps Malick's most ambitious film. The story of the universe itself, with powerful images, from the Big Bang to the Mesozoic era and through the present and beyond, based on a project conceived decades ago. The film was made in two versions, a long one for theatres with Cate Blanchett as the narrator, and a 40' version for Imax with Brad Pitt as the narrator.

Technical information and credits

Original title: Voyage of Time: Life's Journey
English title: Voyage of Time
Year: 2016
Country: France, Germany, USA
Language: en
Subtitles: cz
Running time: 85 min
Dostupnost:

Genre: Documentary, Drama
Directed by: Terrence Malick
Written by: Terrence Malick
Edited by: Terrence Malick
Cinematography: Keith Fraase, Rehman Nizar Ali
Sound by: Hanan Townshend, Simon Franglen

Awards

Venice IFF - Main competition - 2016
Toronto IFF - - 2016
BFI London Film Festival - - 2016

Actors

Cate Blanchett, Jamal Cavill, Maisha Diatta